DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bassi et al. (7,239,360) in view of Tadic-Galed et al. (6,220,713) .

Bassi et al. (7,239,360) discloses a projection system wherein a convex surface of a hyperbolic mirror (103) received image light from an image projector and reflects the light to a flat screen 920). See Figure 10A. As further seen in figure 10A the surface receiving the image light is a portion of a hyperbolic surface to one side of an axis of symmetry depicted as a dotted line (Claim 7).

Bassi et al. does not specify the type of lens unit used within the projector to form the divergent image beam.

Tadic-Galed et al. (6,220,713) discloses a particular projection objective as illustrated and may include a diaphragm (33) and meniscus lenses 22, 28, 30 located on both sides of the objective and having its concave surfaces facing the diaphragm for creating a divergent image beam. As seen in figure 19, such image projectors may be used in rear projection structures with multiple reflectors preceding the screen.

Lacking criticality to the functioning of the device and absent a critical relationship between the objective and the reflection mirrors, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the structure of Bassi et al. for use with many of known image projectors having particular lens arrangements, such as that taught by Tadic-Galed in order to efficiently utilize the light in forming an image with desired divergent properties.

It further would have been obvious to utilize additionally arranged mirrors in combination with the hyperbolic mirror in order to further fold the light path.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-6, 13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
